

On sale tickets for Enrique Bunbury's show in Costa Rica

Contributed by Milena Wilson
Saturday, 05 May 2012

The tickets for Spanish singer Enrique Bunbury's show in Costa Rica on June 3rd, are already on sale, informed a speaker person for Ocesa, promoter of the event.

The promoter announced that the presale for tickets will be open until May 6th, and the prices are ¢33.000 (general admission), ¢28.000 and ¢ 23.000 (seats). After the presale ends, prices will have a ¢5.000 mark-up. Tickets can be bought online at www.publittickets.com, or by phone at 2582-2323; also at retail stores Importadora Monge (Moravia, Alajuela and Central Avenue) and Play (Zapote, Escazú and Heredia).

Bunbury's show will be held at the Palacio de los Deportes in Heredia, 5 miles north of San Jose.

Bunbury will perform songs from his last album Licenciado Cantinas, such as El mar, el cielo y tú, Vida and El día de mi suerte. For his last production, the musician invited many other first-class musicians like Flaco Jiménez (accordion); Charlie Musselwhite (Harmonica) and guitarists Dave Hidalgo (Los Lobos) and Eliades Ochoa (Buenavista Social Club).

Other countries included in the Latin American tour are Guatemala, Colombia, Ecuador, Chile, Argentina y Uruguay.

About Enrique Bunbury

Enrique Bunbury, born on 1967, and previously known as the leader of rock band Héroes del Silencio, made his debut in a high school band called Apocalipsis, playing later with Proceso Entrópico. In 1984, he joined a band called Zumo de Vidrio, making his debut as a lead vocalist. He adopted the nickname of Bunbury, taken from the Oscar Wilde stage play The Importance of Being Earnest.

He musician joined in 1985 Héroes del Silencio, a band that became a major number in the Hispanic rock scene. The band broke up in 1996, and Bunbury started his solo career in 1997 with an electro-rock album, Radical Sonora with his new band: Copi (piano), Del Moran (bass), Ramon Gacias (drums) and former Héroes del Silencio guitarist Alan Boguslavsky.